

Beech Class Weekly Update Friday 10th June 2022

Welcome back to the last half-term. It's been a short week but a busy one nonetheless! We have been measuring and comparing mass. We used balance scales to predict and compare the weight of different objects.

In history, we have been learning about how the Fire Brigade started. We role played what life was like post Great Fire of London. The children were completely engrossed in this. After this, we made our own versions of 'Firemarks' out of clay inspired by London out of clay. Hopefully, they will be taking these home on Monday, once they've dried.

In science, we investigated what materials are rigid and what materials are flexible. This involved lots of group collaboration. We later compared our results as a whole class.

Have a lovely weekend!
