

Friday 29th January - Home Learning

Hello everyone! Happy Friday!

Today is Friday 29th January - can you believe the next time I see you it will be a whole new month! Can you write today's date? Don't forget those cheeky clowns for the 'th' after the date number. I bet you're all super great at writing January now too!

Morning tasks:

Reception children

- Read one list of word cards (let me know if you need more!)
- Practise both set of handwriting from last week (videos of the Acorn Home learning page)
- Practise writing your numbers (see the video on the Acorn Home learning page)

Year 1

- Read and write your spelling word for this week (previously taught as ue, oo)

All

Reading comprehension (see video from Miss Blake)

Dough Disco

Grab your play dough and head on down to this week's Dough Disco! You can find the link on the Home Learning page.

Topic

This week we are listening to a piece of music by Nigel Hess called 'London Eye'. It was composed in 2012. Watch the video as we talk about different things to listen out for in the music.

- You can download the music words from the Home Learning page. Talk together about the words as you listen to the music.
- Listen again and think about the journey the London Eye takes in the music. Talk about the different London landmarks you see in the video.
- TASK: art activity - respond to the music through creating a piece of artwork based around the London Eye. This can be done online on 2Paint on Purple Mash, it can be a sculpture made from junk modelling or construction toys or it can be drawn or painted. You can paint anything that the music made you think of as you travelled on the London Eye!

Afternoon

Fun Friday! Join in with some yoga on our 'It's Yoga Time' page and try your French with Mot Magnifique on the French and Music page.

See you all next week!
