

Beech Class Weekly Update Friday 16th September 2022

Where do I even begin? It has been a wild week in Beech Class. We've had a visitor...

When we got to school on Monday, our beautiful book corner had been DESTROYED. The cushions, blankets and pillows had all disappeared! There was a huge sign saying: 'CLOSED'...and a note from a mysterious character. This note had a clue which led us to find the next clue and so on. We even ended up on the mini field!

On Tuesday there was a surprise. Our outdoor learning space had been transformed into an extra special reading space with magical fairy lights and a book from... The Bog Baby.

The children were curious to know more about the Bog Baby so we wrote him a letter!

He had left us a surprise in class...a magnificent morning of painting! I have shared photos of this on the class page and the children took these home today too!

On Wednesday morning, we were excited to read the Bog Bay's reply. However, we soon discovered that the outdoor reading space was CLOSED. There was a note on the door from our Headteacher saying: 'DO NOT ENTER'. Then we had a visit from Mrs. O'Sullivan first thing in the morning. It was all very serious. The governors had heard about what had gone on and they needed us to write to them to explain what exactly had happened.

We successfully completed this task!

Luckily on Thursday we had permission to enter! We got to read the reply from the Bog Baby.

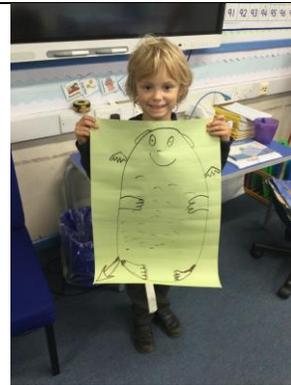

He was very grateful for the mud sandwich Cecily had left for him but he told us that his friends were feeling a bit left out so he asked for our help to cheer them up!

We made a poster all about Bog Babys and listed all of the wonderful things about them. We used our best descriptive language.

On Friday we wrote the MOST AMAZING descriptive sentences about Bog Babys. We left these hanging in the classroom for the Bog Baby to share with his friends over the weekend. Ms. Keogh also made a copy of these for us to take home as we are very proud of our work.

We are excited to see what Monday will bring!

Ps. One of the children happened to have a Bog Baby visit their house last night so do keep an eye out over the weekend just incase!

In science we have been learning about things which are alive, things which were once alive and things which were never alive.

In math's, our journey with place value continues! Here is a sample of when we were representing numbers in different ways. Remember to count at home every single day!
