

Weekly Update Friday 26th January 2024 Willow Class

I am beaming from ear to ear! Although full of coughs and colds, Willow class have been little stars this week. We have learnt a new method to multiply, completed our descriptive setting of Pompeii, recorded our final musical song and much much more!

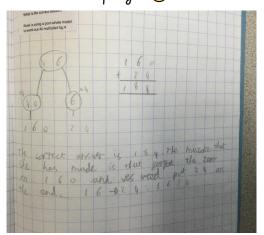

Maths

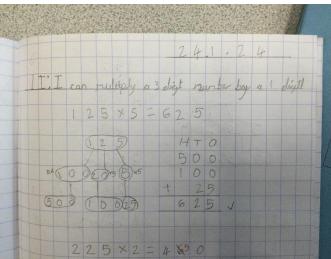

I thought last week was a success, but they have blown me away again this week! We moved onto our next station... PART WHOLE METHOD. Please do not panic if you have never heard of this method- it is fairly new! However, the children are little mathematicians and are ALL now confident in this method. Their challenge over the weekend is to teach a family method how to use this method. I have also recorded a video to support with this new method- I have uploaded it onto our class page 😊

We are really enjoying our new topic this term. We have explored the layers of the Earth and created a pop-up diagram to show this. This term we have been learning about 'earthquakes. This was fascinating!

Literacy

Our descriptive settings are finished! After planning, drafting, and editing our descriptive settings of Pompeii are finished. Well done Willow Class!!

RE

A wonderful lesson in RE this week, with Mrs Williams. This term the children are learning about Hinduism and how they pray.
