

Snow Day learning - Acorn Class 12.12.22

Good morning everyone 😊

We are a bit sad that we are not able to be together today as it has snowed and now it is very icy so it is safer to stay at home and learn.

Learning for today for Reception children:

- Please write your name (first and last name) and remember to use a larger letter for the capital.
- If you usually write in your 'Good Morning' book, then please write a sentence or two about your weekend or something you like to do. Remember to use your phonics for this and write the sounds you can hear in words. You could include the tricky words 'I' and 'the'.

Today we will be learning about positional language and we will be reading the book 'Rosie's Walk', which can be found by clicking the link (if you do not have a copy at home).

Please watch the video and talk about the positional language you hear, such as across, over, on top, under etc.

Using some of your toys make a 'journey' map on the floor and tell an adult where your toys travel to - remember to use the language of position when you are your story.

You could also take a photo to share with the class when we return (send it to the acorn email address).

You could make a journey picture to show where your toy went on some paper if you have any at home, like the story of Rosie's walk.

Another great story is 'We're going on a bear hunt.' This version is performed by Michael Rosen, who also wrote it:

You could create your own animal hunt with funny noises!

Phonics today is the digraph er

Below is the action for er and two new tricky words to practise to do.

Practise the action, writing er and reading the er words which I have added to today's learning.

er
